What is “Semiconductor Fiber” material technology ?

A 100” projection solid screen consists of 20,000 Semiconductor Fibers which compose more than 10 million crystal lattices. The multi-layer structure of the screen enhances the three-dimensional appearance and the exquisiteness of every pixel. The material also improves the color saturation/enrichment of the graphic and the reduction of redundant light for eye protection. These optical traits create the best viewing experience for users.
